The 'Second Position Teacher Study Manual' takes one 'bit' of information at a time. Each note is shown on the fingerboard, how the finger and knuckle appear when it is played and where the note sits on the staff. The art of playing the violin is both a physical as well as intellectual process.

Part of the reason that students have difficulty with 2nd position is that all of the fingerings are just one finger off of 1st position. Usually 2nd position is played to avoid crossing strings in music and to play an extended fourth finger. 2nd position is located in between 1st and 3rd position. To play in this position put your 1st finger where your 2nd finger would normally play in first position.

Shortly thereafter, she found a second part-time position, this one giving violin lessons to talented students from several public schools in Baltimore at two locations: City College High School and Roland Park Elementary School. This teaching was part of the program of the Baltimore Talent Education Center (BTEC), a city-wide magnet program. Travel was required between the two locations, so at age 52 Mrs. Berkovich bought a used car and learned to drive.
